THE CAMPAIGN.

Letter from Clarke County----Conservative Nominees for the House and the Senate---Congressional Candidates -- Mr. Conrad -- Negro Meeting-Memorial Day.

Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch. BERRYVILLE, VA., June 17, 1869. At a convention assembled for the purose of nominating a candidate for the ouse of Delegates, John E. Page, Esq., residing, and Mr. William Taylor Milton ceretary, Colonel W. W. Arnett was nominated to represent the county of Clarke. Colonel Arnett is one of the canvassers apinted by the State Central Committee. As a speaker he has decided ability, being tentiary. justly regarded one of the most promising In addition to the endowments which at one day will place him at the head of his profession he possesses strength of character, soundness of views, and an affability of mner, equally calculated to secure popular regard and popular confidence. With such men as Arnett in the Legislature, the interests of the State will be carefully guarded. Through such influence as those may exert who, like him, regard not private interest when weighed against the public good, Virginia will once more become the proud arbiof her own destiny.

In the convention, resolutions were passed commending every man in the county to wrister and vote. All were urged to vote Colonel Walker and against the obnoxius clauses. No recommendation was made with reference to the remainder of the concitation to be submitted. Whilst "each man must be a law unto himself" in this matter, there are many who will vote for the constitution expurgated, hoping to remedy remaining defects by future legisla-

DANVILLE, June 18, 1869. To-day has been one of deepest interest to us all. The Walkerites rallied in strength, and to-day, all day long, our town hall has been thronged with eager listeners, who greedily listen to the inspiring words of our speakers. Judge Gilmer spoke this would have it honored at the national bank morning, and dealt Wells & Co. some very heavy blows. Colonel George C. ## Letter from Loudonn County.

Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch. LOUDOUN COUNTY, June 17, 1869. Torpid old Loudoun scems to be rousing rom her lethargy, and Walker's late visit has been the live coal upon the terrapin's back. The favorable impression made by his appearance and demeanor, the effect of is pledge, if elected, to use his power for he good of Virginia and Virginians, amount almost to enthusiasm with those who were privileged to hear him in Leesourg on Wednesday. Many to whom the proposed constitution is utterly odious will rote for it and against the obnoxious clauses, hoping to get the right men as law-makers, and thereby deprive it of its venom. As for the negro vote, it will of course be

The True Spirit.

WARRENTON, June 18, 1869.

Editors of the Richmond Dispatch: I do not suppose there was in all Virginia my one who received the action of the Conservative Convention with more regret ratified by a large and enthusiastic mass than I did, or more deeply deplored what I believed a dangerous and almost disgraceful policy; but as the issue is presented, and the people have determined to acquiesee in It. I have become convinced that it is the duty of every true man, every Virginian, to register who can, and to vote for the

REGISTRATION.

Although every conceivable impediment is thrown in the way of white men who offer to register in certain districts, the indications are that hundreds of Conservatives will be added to the lists in each county of the Valley. Would you believe it that at Mount Jackson the Board refused yesterday to allow a man to register simply because he was pardoned by President Johnson? It was clearly shown to them that he held no office before the war, and is not obnoxious to the fourteenth amendment; but in spite of this they said "the fact that he was pardoned by the President disfranchised him." This is but one of a score of frivolous pretexts which are conjured up to prevent our white people registering. Our superintendent at Mt. Jackson, W. W. Bird, however, is as vigilant and active as any ave met, and has a list of every white man in his district who failed to register at the last registration. It would be well if every superintendent in the State was similarly provided. He will permit no injustice to be done without a proper protest. There will be a large number registered here to-morrow during the progress of the speaking.

PROSPECTS IN PAGE. Wells's vote in this county will be very nsignificant, and our friends promise to use all means in their power to get out a full vote for Walker.

After to-morrow they will commence a systematic canvass of the county, and not a day will be permitted to pass without speak-

Colonel Walker goes from here to Culpeper Courthouse by way of Washington, in Rappahannock county, and will speak at the latter place on Saturday. Major Douglass leaves him at this place and goes to Harrisonburg.

HAVE THE IRON-CLAD AMENDED. Can't you induce General Canby to amend the iron-clad oath now required of State officers so as to read, "And I further swear our candidate, and though fatigued by con-stant travel and early rising, he spoke with confined for any infamous offence in any State penitentiary." I suggest this at the instance of a disfranchised citizen. G.

Detective Sent from Richmond to Investigate the Mobbing of Jesse Edwards -- Report that reached Headquarters---Additional Details---Attempt to make Political Capital out of the Mobbing of Edwards---Institute Examinations--- Dr. Bagby. LEXINGTON, VA., June 18, 1869.

We have just had a visit from a detective from General Canby's headquarters, who me up to ascertain the facts in the mobbing of the negro Jesse Edwards. It had now battling for the emancipation of the been represented at headquarters "that no white men of Virginia and the restoration such person existed as Miss Susan Hite; that no rape and no murder had been committed, but that Jesse Edwards had been a very active politician, and was mobbed to prevent the negroes from registering." would like to have the name of the misere-ant who furnished that information. Does not General Canby owe it to this slandered people to give his name?

Your correspondent has heard a resume of the testimony against Edwards, and it is perfectly conclusive of his guilt indepen-dent of his confession. The details are truly horrible. He nearly tore off her upper lip in stifling her cries while accomplishing his fiendish purpose, and then beat her to death with a rock which he held in his handfracturing her skull, beating in her nose and face, and hacking her in the most cruel manner. The fiend made full confession of all Mr. Jenkins, who was standing by, then of the people of Virginia will of these and other sickening details the day of his commitment to jail. It also appears not entitled to register or vote, and it is not There is no question as to their having politics. Wells and his satellites will doubtless circulate this base falsehood in every negro cabin in the State, and will, of course, not let the poor wretches have the full account of the affair, which has been carried General Canby by his detective. By-the-way, this-gentleman does not seem to have tried to ascertain who were engaged in the hanging of Edwards. He doubtless concluded that it would be "love's labor lost" to do so. Per- The meeting then adjourned, after a suchaps a military commission may be convened; but there is an old saying that catching is before hanging," and as nobody seems to know who composed the mob, the "gentlemen in blue" would have sure the success of the Legislative ticket his back, he was enjoying an illicit view of lively time making the arrests and proving now before the people. Leave nothing unthe charge, even to the satisfaction of the "Bureau of Military Justice." Your correspondent has heard, by-the-way, that the gentleman from headquarters, on receiving from our civil authorities here a full statement of the facts, did not full statement of the facts, did not hesitate to say that "the mob did exactly right." We do not say that; but we do say that the palliating circumstances are very strong. In addition to those given before, we may add that there is now in our jail a negro who was convicted at our last court of an attempt to rape a most respect-able young lady, and that there is a rumor afloat that Welis has already ordered his pardon to be made out. The miserable adventurers who seek to fasten themselves on the Treasury of our State may urge the negroes to vote for Wells because he has pardoned Cæsar Griffin, Burns, and hosts of other criminals; but surely this should be another incentive to white men to work for Walker. It is having that effect in this afternoon; county. The whites who failed to register before are all coming forward now, and nearly four whites to one negro have thus now follow his example and vote for it with far registered. HO FOR CUBA-THE RECRUITING OFFICER

DISCHARGED.—An account of the arrest of H. H. Harrison, who is charged with violating the neutrality laws by enlisting recruits for the Cuban revolutionary army,

Mr. Harrison was brought before United States Commissioner Chahoon on Saturday, and underwent a kind of examination on the charge above stated, but there seemed to have been little effort made to collect testimony, as it is supposed that the Govern-ment only wishes to make a show of enforcing the neutrality laws, so far as Cuba is Detective Knox, upon whose information the arrest was made, said that he did not know Mr. Harrison, but had heard young men at his office talking about going to Cuba. Witness had made the complaint at the instance of a Mrs. Haley, who thought her son had been induced to join the filibusters. Saw Mr. Haley at the door of the supposed recruiting office; men were constantly passing in and out.

Wellington M. Haley, the young man alluded to by Mr. Knox, stated to the Commissioner that he went to the office of "Captain Smith" in consequence of an advertisement promising veterans out of employment thirty dollars a month and a bounty of $500. The men about the office told him they had come there in search of employ-
